Census Note: These data contain unpublished tabulations and may contain high sampling error as reflected in the relative standard error (or cv, as appropriate). High sampling error arises when data are tabulated at levels for which the sample size is inadequate because of cost or other constraints. These data also contain nonsampling errors, such as errors of coverage, measurement, missing data and imputation, specification, and classification, that introduce unknown biases. However, the Census Bureau makes every effort to keep all biases to a minimum. These tabulations have not undergone a thorough review, and therefore, you should exercise caution in their use and interpretation. Unpublished data are intended for your internal use only and may not be published citing the Census Bureau as the data source.

Census Note: These data contain unpublished tabulations and may contain high sampling error as reflected in the relative standard error (or cv, as appropriate). High sampling error arises when data are tabulated at levels for which the sample size is inadequate because of cost or other constraints. These data also contain nonsampling errors, such as errors of coverage, measurement, missing data and imputation, specification, and classification, that introduce unknown biases. However, the Census Bureau makes every effort to keep all biases to a minimum. These tabulations have not undergone a thorough review, and therefore, you should exercise caution in their use and interpretation. Unpublished data are intended for your internal use only and may not be published citing the Census Bureau as the data source.
